Seating Capacity Explanations

An example of what's to be found in the Seating Capacity column could look something like this;

H44/31D

The easiest way to look at this is as three parts;

Part One – before the numbers;

A - Articulated (sometimes in connection with vehicle type, so AB or AC)

B - single deck bus

C - single deck coach

CO - convertible open top bus (removable roof usually)

DP - dual purpose single deck (most often coach seats in a bus body_

H - highbridge double deck (most double deckers now)

L - lowbridge double deck (i.e. sunken side gangway layout, mostly preserved vehicles now)

M - Minibus (van style conversion)

(these can be combined into two i.e. AC is an articulated coach)

O - open top bus

ST – Standee Tram

Part Two – the number;

Double deck buses and coaches will show two numbers, separated by a slash – the first part is upstairs, and the bottom is downstairs.

Everything else will show the total seats without a slash.

Part Three – after the numbers;

Minibuses do not normally show anything here (except maybe L for rear lift equipped); but otherwise;

C - centre entrance / exit

D - dual doors (usually front entrance / centre exit)

F - front or forward entrance

R - traditional rear open platform (mostly preserved vehicles now)

RD - rear platform with platform doors

RO - rear platform with open staircase

T – Treble door (e.g. AB49T) in articulated vehicles, or Toilet (in coaches)

L - Vehicle fitted with wheelchair lift (either rear of a minibus or front/side of a coach, usually)

Chassis & Body Type Codes

r or res	-	Reserve Vehicle
